WESTERN TRADE.

The salesman that addresses a thousand people each day, ought to say only the right thing at the right time, and to say it in the right manner; the salesman that addresses a million people a day, considers the merit of what he has to sell, would naturally be costly. He addresses the lawyer in his office, the student in his study, the man of business in his counting-house, the cultivated woman at the family fireside. He is in a thousand places at once; he enters the homes of the people, and therefore it is of the first importance that he performs his duty intelligently and faithfully. The commercial traveller is justly said to be the pioneer of trade, but he addresses himself only to those who buy to sell again—his sphere is restricted; not so the salesman who speaks for himself in the columns of a widely-circulated newspaper—he is always at work, early and late. If the salesman does his work well (which consists in presenting the merit of what he has to sell in an intelligent manner, and in conformity with the truth), the value of his services increases with time, and multiplies in value.

THE REVIVAL.

No Diminution of Interest in the Reclamation of Sinners.

Maj. Whipple Conducts the Services at Farwell Hall and the Tabernacle.

He Warns the People Against the Dangers of Compromising with Sin.

Reunion of the Rock River Conference at the Centenary Church.

FARWELL HALL.

THE MOON-DAY PRAYER MEETING.

Another large meeting at noon in Farwell Hall yesterday gave additional proof of the presence of the spirit of revival among the Christians of Chicago. Among the ministers present from abroad was the Rev. Alexander Clark, editor of the Methodist Recorder, of Pittsburg, Pa., whose hymn, entitled "Bless Me Now," was sung after the opening prayer by the Rev. Dr. Tiffany.

The service, reading by Maj. Whipple, was on the topic of "Compromising with Sin."

The danger of compromise with sin is a lesson which runs all through the Bible. It is seen in the case of King David, who tried to compromise with God in the matter of the destruction of the Amalekites; and, instead of exterminating them as commanded, man and beast, he spared Agag, their King, and the best of the sheep and the oxen. Therefore God rejected him from being King, and at the day of his death it became known that he was a sinner.

The Amalekites came to David, saying he had slain King Saul at his own request, and bringing his crown and jewels to the one who had chosen him as his successor. The reason given in the graves of Adams, who had been killed by the Amalekites, is that they fought against Israel and were foolish in their work, now God had need him wherever he has gone.

Arrangements have been made with all the railroads to run their trains so as to accommodate people to go to the meetings, and those who wish to attend the Gospel-meeting in the Tabernacle each evening. Times of trains have been changed. C. E. & G. R. H. will have their cars at the depot early in the morning, east of Aurora. The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago start at 10 o'clock. The Illinois Central will hold the 9:30 train at Van Buren, and the 10:30 at Rockford. The Rock Island will hold the train until 9:40 o'clock; the Chicago & Rock Island at 10 o'clock. The Michigan Southern will leave at 11 o'clock, and they expect to run until 9:40 o'clock.

A telegram from Mr. Moody announces his arrival at Northfield Monday morning, and the funeral of his brother at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. He will remain on Saturday and will deliver a lecture to Clinton on Sunday morning.

The Acorn, bound for Erie, was driven past Port Colborne, and came here for shelter. Her foremast was broken and sails split.

The Rev. P. E. Locks, with coal from Oswego to Chicago, arrived here badly banged up, sailing split, and leaking. She is now at the Marine station at Peacock Point, before Port Colborne.
